NOMINATION LIMITATION

Yale University may nominate two candidates.

BACKGROUND

The mission of the Mallinckrodt Foundation is to support early-stage investigators engaged in basic biomedical research that has the potential to significantly advance the understanding, diagnosis, or treatment of disease.

In preparing their proposals, faculty members should bear in mind that, although the Board selection process is shepherded by Trustees with a background in biomedical science, the goal and key features of the project should be described at a level that can be understood by lay members of the Board, who will ultimately have an important role in the final selection of award recipients.

Proposed budgets must justify how the funds to be received will be used to advance the unique problem under study in a way that cannot be done with existing funds.

ELIGIBILITY

- Candidates should hold an MD and/or PhD degree and must be an Assistant or Associate Professor in the fifth to eighth year of a tenure-track faculty position. At the School of Medicine, this means that candidates should be in, or heading towards, the Traditional track.
- While the candidate may already have independent research funding, including an R01 or other major research grant, the project being proposed to the Mallinckrodt Foundation must not have had independent funding previously. Instead, the Mallinckrodt award is designed to move the project forward to the point where R01 or other independent funding can be obtained.

INTERNAL COMPETITION PROCEDURES

For this competition, please submit to melanie.smith@yale.edu a single PDF that includes:

- (1) Face Page -- download at <http://your.yale.edu/node/9391>
- (2) 2-page description of the proposed research
- (3) your biosketch
- (4) list of current/pending support, describing the relationship to the proposed Mallinckrodt project
- (5) letter of recommendation from your department chair.
