1 REMINDER: NIH RPPRS AND COMPLIANCE WITH NIH PUBLIC ACCESS POLICY

NIH progress reports (RPPRs) require reporting on publications. Section C.1 of the progress report asks the question: Are any publications or manuscripts accepted for publication in a journal or other publication during the reporting period resulting directly from the award? All publications that fall under the NIH Public Access Policy must be listed with the My NCBI-assigned number to be compliant. Generally, it takes weeks to bring publications into compliance; PD/PIs are advised to submit their publications to My NCBI as early as possible to ensure their award is renewed in a timely manner. PIs can manage compliance with assistance from the My NCBI website or get guidance from Yale Research Support Librarian Rolando Garcia Milian. He can be reached via email at rolando.milian@yale.edu.

2 NIH PROPOSAL REMINDERS

Hyperlinks and URLs may not be used to provide information subject to application review, particularly in page-limited sections of NIH proposals such as the Specific Aims, Research Strategy or Training Program Plans. A reminder, The Do's and Don'ts of Hyperlinks in Grant Applications, was published last year by the NIH.
