YALE UNIVERSITY CAMPUS AND WORKPLACE VIOLENCE PREVENTION POLICY

Yale University has a long-standing commitment to provide a campus that is safe and secure for faculty, staff, students, and visitors. Behavior that is threatening, harassing, intimidating or in any way dangerous or violent is strictly prohibited and will result in serious action by the University. While no large organization is immune from acts of violence, clear policies and procedures help reduce the likelihood of such events and guide appropriate responses to situations that do arise.

POLICIES TO PROMOTE A SAFE CAMPUS

It is University policy that:

- Access to the University's property is limited to members of the University community and their guests and invitees, and to those authorized to be on campus property.
- All students, staff and faculty on or in the vicinity of the campus must present a valid Yale ID card at the request of any University official.
- The University reserves the right to enter and inspect its property and work areas.
- All newly hired staff, post-doctoral associates and fellows, employees of vendors, consultants who receive I.D.s, and casual employees expected to work 30 days or more per year must undergo background checks. This expansion of our background verification requirement takes effect January 1, 2010.

PROHIBITION OF WEAPONS

The University specifically prohibits the possession of weapons by any faculty or staff member, student, or visitor while on or in the vicinity of University-owned or controlled property, whether or not the owner is licensed to carry such weapon. This ban includes keeping a weapon or transporting it to another location. With the exception of the University Police, employees are prohibited from carrying a weapon while performing services for the University on or off University premises. Other law enforcement professionals must have the permission of the University Police to carry weapons on campus. Weapons may include, but are not limited to, guns, ammunition, knives, explosives and the like, crossbows, swords, or similar items with the potential to inflict physical harm. Included are disarmed weapons and simulated weapons which could reasonably cause apprehension. Possession of unlicensed or illegal weapons at any location may be grounds for discipline. Appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including termination or expulsion in the case of a student, and/or criminal proceedings will be taken against persons who violate this policy.

EXAMPLES OF PROHIBITED BEHAVIORS

Among the behaviors prohibited by University policy are verbal or non-verbal threats, electronically communicated threats, threatened use of a weapon of any kind, physical intimidation (hitting, shoving, etc.), stalking, sexual harassment or assault, vandalism, arson, or any other dangerous behavior that undermines the safety and security of the Yale campus.

REPORTING THREATS OR VIOLENT BEHAVIOR

All members of the Yale community have the responsibility to report threatening or violent behavior, whether that behavior is exhibited by faculty, staff, students, or visitors.

If there is an immediate threat of violence, call 911 right away or call the Yale Police directly at 203.432.4400 (24 hours a day). If you don't have a phone, go to and use one of the nearly 400 blue light emergency phones on campus. Those at the West Campus or other locations not in New Haven should dial 911.

If the threat of violence is not immediate, please notify one of the following:

- A supervisor
- Human Resources (203.436.8857)
- Office of Equal Opportunity Programs (203.432.0849)
- Office for Post Doctoral Affairs (203.432.5275 for Central campus/203.785.3735 for Medical campus)
- Dean's Office in your school
- Residential College Master or Dean
- Dean of Student Affairs

If you are unsure of whom to call, please consult with your Human Resources Generalist or call Yale's anonymous "hot line" by dialing 877.360.YALE.

Members of the University community are expected to notify Yale Police whenever a legal order of protection is granted which mentions the University property or involves a member of the University community. Victims of domestic violence who believe the violence may extend into the University community are also encouraged to notify Yale Police. Appropriate efforts will be made in all cases to protect the privacy and sensitivity of the information provided.

Retaliation against any member of the community, acting in good faith, who has made a complaint of threatening or potentially violent behavior, is a very concerning violation of this policy and will result in serious disciplinary action and/or academic suspension or expulsion.

RESPONSE TO THREATENING, INTIMIDATING, OR VIOLENT BEHAVIOR

The University will take seriously all reports of threats, engaging the necessary expertise as appropriate. The range of actions taken in response may include removal of dangerous persons from the premises, arrests, discipline up to and including termination, academic suspension or expulsion, legal action (such as restraining orders), provision of added security measures, mental health referrals, and other actions as necessary and appropriate.

RESPONSIBILITY OF UNIVERSITY MANAGERS

University managers are expected to learn to recognize the early signs of hostile and potentially threatening behavior that could jeopardize the safety of a member of the Yale community while on our campus. Training on the early warning signs and how to respond to them is provided to managers in University training programs. Ignoring the early signs can be mistaken as approval of the behavior and lead to further unsafe conduct.
